

We are looking for a Project Manager - Start date: July 2021

Main responsibilities include:

- Responsible to and works with the Achilles' Team to translate the strategy into an integrated development plan with clear go/no go decision points and associated milestones including critical path and sub-functional plans.
- Defines opportunities for acceleration and manages the assumptions regarding costs, risks, schedule required to accomplish certain gains in time to next milestone. Translate project acceleration ideas into project outline through roadmaps, resource calculations, budget variance, time variance.
- Leads identification of Project issues and risks and drive resolution or mitigation through a matrix environment, effectively documenting decisions/rationale.
- Integrates activities with all functional lines to create alignment of development plans with functional area plans.

We are looking for professionals with these required skills:

- Bachelor's/Master Degree in Life Science
- Minimum 3 years pharmaceutical R&D or related industry experience
- Vaccine development experience at project level and/or at functional level
- Experience with MS Project or similar softwares
- Risk, budget and resources management
- Advanced knowledge of multi-disciplinary biopharmaceutical drug development required, Vaccines development experience desired for many projects
- Exceptional computer proficiency – advanced knowledge of MS-Office applications required
- Ability to effectively manage multiple Projects/Programs with competing priorities
- Highly effective influencing and negotiations skills in challenging, ambiguous and/or changing environments
- Highly effective verbal, written, presentation communications skills
- Ability to work with project teams to identify novel solutions to both project-specific and portfolio wide issues
- Demonstrated skill operating in situations characterized by complexity, ambiguity and high levels of uncertainty
- Possess negotiation skills and ability to influence with or without authority at all levels of the organization
- Analytical and organized
- Business and Financial acumen
- Fluent in English

Preferred Qualifications:

- Project/Program Management Professional (PMP) certificate is a plus.

To apply, please send your CV to careers@achillesvaccines.com